Scope and Topics of Interest

The Wireless Networking Symposium is devoted to recent advances on wireless and mobile networks, applications, and services related to wireless networking. The objective of this symposium is to provide an international forum to exchange new ideas and research results from both academia and industry. Prospective authors are invited to submit original contributions on all aspects of wireless networking, including, but not limited to the following topics of interest:

- Mobile cellular networks
- Mobile ad hoc networks
- Wireless mesh networks
- Wireless sensor networks
- Wireless local area networks
- Wireless personal area networks
- Cognitive radio networks
- Self-organizing networks
- Vehicular ad hoc networks

- Smart grid networks
 - Home area networks
 - Femtocell networks
 - Free space optical networks
 - Network architecture
 - Algorithms and protocols
 - Medium access control
 - Routing
 - Security and privacy
 - Flow control and congestion control
 - Radio resource allocation
 - Traffic modeling and management
 - Mobility, handoff, and location management
 - Quality-of-service provisioning
 - Cross-layer design and optimization
 - Multimedia over wireless networks
 - Capacity and performance analysis
 - Network testbeds and deployment
 - Wireless network standardization
 - Emerging wireless services and applications

Important Dates

Submission deadline: June 15, 2013

Acceptance notification: Aug. 15, 2013

Camera-ready paper: Sept. 5, 2013

Conference dates: Oct. 24-26, 2013
